

FACTSHEET

Syria Regional Crisis

March 2014

People in need of assistance: 9.3 million

Refugees: more than 2.5 million

Internally displaced people: 6.5 million

Expected number of refugees by December 2014: 4.1 million

Women and children: 75%

People fleeing Syria each day in 2013: almost 5000

Deaths: more than 100,000

Almost half of the Syrian population is displaced or in need of assistance.

Zaatari refugee camp, with a population of some 100,000 people, is now the second largest refugee camp in the world.

In Lebanon, refugees account for almost a quarter of the population. In Jordan, the Syrian refugees make up for 10 percent of the population.

Three quarters of the refugee population in Jordan live in rented apartments in border towns or in the capital Amman.

FUNDING

On Monday, 16 December 2013, the United Nations announced a new appeal for Syria – the largest ever to date, with total requirements reaching US$6.5 billion for 2013. The UN has, in fact, revised its two main appeals upwards, the Syria Humanitarian Assistance Response Plan (SHARP) for people inside the country, and the Syria Regional Response Plan (RRP) for refugees in the region.

Funding requirements met for SHARP: 8%

Funding requirements met for RRP: 14%

CARE has secured less than 25% of the anticipated US$200 million funding that we minimally need for our response.

CARE URGES ALL PARTIES TO:

- seek a peaceful resolution to the conflict
- ensure the protection of civilians
- facilitate the delivery of lifesaving assistance to all those in need in Syria and the region
- ensure sufficient levels of aid funding to meet the mammoth needs of refugees and internally displaced people

CARE is aware that in all conflicts, women and girls are particularly vulnerable. Women and children account for more than three quarters of the refugees who have fled Syria. We call on all parties to ensure the protection of women.

CARE is working to scale up its response to help those most affected by the conflict.

We are collaborating with host country governments, the United Nations, and international and local organisations to help refugees and host communities meet their most urgent needs and protect their dignity (for more information on our response, please turn to page 2.)

HOW WE RESPOND TO THE SYRIA CRISIS

CARE is providing life-saving services to Syrian refugees in Jordan, Lebanon and Egypt and to people affected by the crisis in Syria. Our support to families affected by the crisis in Syria is based on humanitarian needs alone, no matter which religion, political affiliation or ethnicity people belong to.

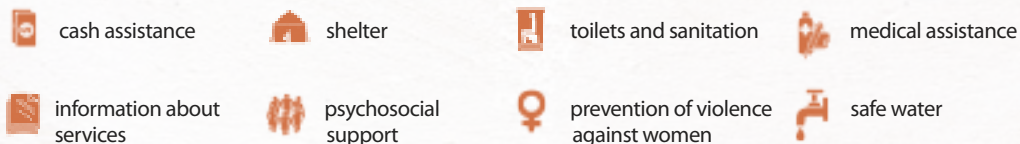

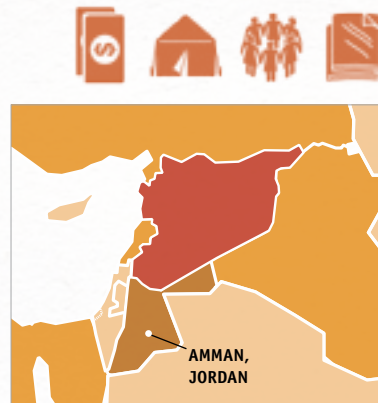

JORDAN REFUGEES: 580,000+

To date, CARE has reached more than 250,000 refugees from Syria.

CARE set up refugee centres in East Amman, Zarqa, Irbid and Mafrqa. CARE volunteers, who are refugees themselves, assist in organizing and preparing distributions of relief supplies. We provide cash assistance to pay for basic living costs, including rent, food and essential household items. CARE also assists with vital information on how refugees can access further health, legal and social support. In addition, we are providing psychosocial assistance to women, men and children helping them to cope with their experience of violence, flight and loss of family and friends.

CARE helps families in Jordan to cope during the cold winter, distributing cash to buy heaters, blankets and fuel refills to refugees. As host communities have also been severely impacted by increased accommodation and living costs, CARE works with most vulnerable host families to address their needs. To date, CARE has reached over 15,000 Jordanians and more than 90,000 Syrian refugees with emergency and winterization cash assistance.

CARE Jordan focuses on supporting refugees in urban areas of Jordan. In addition, CARE partnered with the UNHCR and other agencies to set up a new refugee camp, Azraq. CARE teams are on stand-by once Azraq camp opens and we will be responsible for providing essential information to newly arrived refugees, including information on the structure of the camp, where to access services like education, medical support and food and will inform refugees about their rights. CARE will also provide psychosocial support and follow-up with vulnerable cases and setting up refugee committees within the camp so that they will be the voice of their communities.

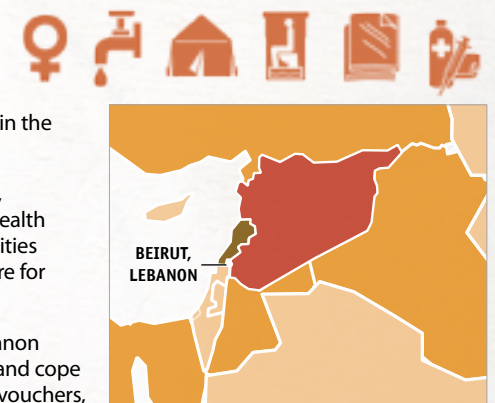

LEBANON REFUGEES: 950,000+

In Lebanon, CARE meets refugees' most basic and pressing needs, mainly providing water, sanitation, shelter and cash assistance in Beirut and in the areas of Mount Lebanon and Tripoli.

This includes the improvement of drainage systems, distribution of sanitary items, and the provision of health education sessions. CARE also works with municipalities to improve water supply and sanitation infrastructure for refugees as well as for host communities.

In the winter, CARE helps families in the Mount Lebanon region and in the area around Tripoli to prepare for and cope with the cold winter, distributing cash, heaters, fuel vouchers, blankets and floor mats. CARE International in Lebanon has been able to support more than 25,000 people so far.

EGYPT REFUGEES: 130,000+

CARE raises awareness among the refugees of sexual exploitation and other forms of gender-based violence to protect them from any form of abuse.

In collaboration with different partners and specialists, CARE empowers family members to oppose harmful practises. We also plan to help refugees by providing cash and other material assistance to meet their most basic needs. CARE also assists refugees coping with their trauma through psychosocial programs.
